

New research opportunities

Get involved with research or promote participation

Whether you are a patient, working with patients or have an interest in research, you may wish to visit our new website opportunities section.

The section provides a list of current and past projects, where people can see what's available. The latest opportunity posted is a study on psoriasis and diet.

If you are looking to recruit into a trial or want to get in touch with people about psoriasis or psoriatic arthritis, then there is a form that can be submitted about your project, if suitable we will add it to the list and share across our networks.
